Forecast for Tuesday 03 Sep 2024

Weather: Extensive low cloud, with outbreaks of patchy light rain and drizzle at first. Low cloud, mist and drizzle should gradually clear eastwards during the morning. Becoming drier and brighter, with sunny spells developing into the afternoon. However, there is the chance of the few well-scattered light showers by late-afternoon and early evening, although most places miss these altogether and stay largely dry throughout.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 20% early morning, becoming 80% by the afternoon.

Low cloud and visibility: Clouds may obscure the hills above 400m during the morning, before lifting above the summits by the afternoon. Temporarily obscuring the hills above 600m in any showers late-afternoon and evening. Visibility will be poor or very poor in low cloud and drizzle fist thing, improving to become very good or excellent by the afternoon, with distant hills clearly visible.
